

Miss Hession of Eddyville Gets Carnegie Medal

Rescued Two People From Drowning in Wallkill River at Hession in July, 1925—Poughkeepsie School Girl Also Cited for Heroic Deed.

Poughkeepsie, Pa., Oct. 27 (P).—Five students of New York State, two of them women and one a 12-year-old school girl, have been cited by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission as recipients of bronze medals for heroism. The commission announced here.

On August 15, 1925, according to the citation, Anna Citron, a 25-year-old dressmaker living at 1800 seventh avenue, New York city, made a desperate but futile attempt to save Henry Goldberg, 21 years old, from drowning at Peekskill.

Goldberg was bathing in Crom-Crom Road Quarry Pond when he got beyond his depth a short distance from the bank. Miss Citron swam out from the bank and seized him. He was twice submerged by Goldberg's weight. Goldberg seized her, but she struggled with him until she was almost exhausted. She was dragged into shallow water by a man and was unconscious when taken from the water but revived.

Monica F. Hession of Eddyville, aged 12, daughter of Mary B. Honigman, aged 15, from drowning in the Wallkill River at Hession, July 18, 1925.

Mary Honigman was wading in the river but got beyond her depth and was swept by the current into deeper water. Her father swam to her rescue, but she grappled with him in the struggle he lost consciousness.

Miss Hession, fully dressed, leaped from the river bank and swam 32 feet to the struggling pair. She seized the man and swam with him to shallow water, while the girl clung to her father.

Medal for Poughkeepsie Girl. Elizabeth E. Gheare, a 12-year-old school girl living at 530 Main street, Poughkeepsie, is to be awarded a bronze medal for saving the life of Harry Halladay, aged 13, at Pleasant Valley, August 1, 1925.

Miss Halladay was swimming in Tappan's Creek when she was drawn beneath the surface in eight feet of water and was unable to continue swimming. Elizabeth Gheare swam out to her and was seized by her drowning girl.

Miss Gheare was unable to free herself and with her arms pinned to her sides swam under water a distance of 30 feet, bringing the Halladay girl to the bank.

Other Medals Awarded. Lewis Conely, 24 years old, became exhausted while swimming in Lake George at Pilot Knob, July 5, 1924, and sank twice. John D. Carpenter, 23 years old, a student living at 17605 Dally Road, Jamaica, L. I., lived from a runaway, swam to Conely and seized him.

Conely grappled with his would-be rescuer and held him under water during a struggle which lasted several minutes. Carpenter was fully clothed and began to weaken. Another man swam to his assistance and after separating them with difficulty swam ashore with Conely. Carpenter swam ashore almost at the point of exhaustion.

Ramond F. Tigan, aged 48, proprietor of the Hotel Albert, 42 East Eleventh street, New York city, rescued two men from drowning in Lake Luzerne, Luzerne, after they had become locked in a death struggle.

Rudolph Van Gelder who was swimming in the lake about 75 feet from shore became distressed in 20 feet of water. Leon N. Van Gelder swam to his assistance and was seized by the drowning man.

Tigan was fully dressed and had been advised not to enter the water because of ill health, but went at once to the aid of the struggling men. He succeeded in pushing the two toward shore and Rudolph became unconscious and relaxed his grip. Leon swam to shallow water and Tigan, with great effort, pushed Rudolph a distance of 65 feet to the shore.

PREPARE TO CLEAR AIR FOR ELECTION RETURNS

Washington, Oct. 27 (P).—Because of the "widespread public interest in a satisfactory reception of election returns," the Federal Radio Commission has taken steps to insure clear reception conditions from 8 p. m. November 6 to 12 noon November 7.

Each amateur and experimental station, including television sets, was asked to cease operation during the period "if and to the extent that each causes interference with reception from broadcasting stations."

Broadcasting stations not engaged in sending the returns were requested, so far as consistent with the carrying on of necessary communications, to conduct their stations with the minimum of interference.

Dr. Rancourt Returns. Dr. L. R. Rancourt, who has been away on his vacation, has returned to Kingston and will resume the practice of medicine at his office, 355 Broadway, on Monday.

St. John's Medical Service. There will be a special musical service at St. John's Church on Albany avenue on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The program appears in the church notices.

Zion Church Drive Ends With Goal Reached

Campaign to Raise $25,000 for Franklin Street Church Closed in "Glorious Victory" When Final Guarantee of Small Amounts Made by Two Workers.

(Official Report.)

Charles Ramsey, Dr. Frank B. Seeley and Harry H. Flemming were three of the happiest men in Kingston Friday night at the closing meeting of the workers in the A. M. E. Zion Church Campaign. Twenty-five thousand dollars was the goal, and due to the splendid work of the initial gifts committee coupled with the efforts of the men on the teams, and the final guarantee of small amounts by Dr. Seeley and Charles Ramsey, "Twas indeed a glorious victory."

William B. Martin's division led the procession as it has from the very beginning. He was high Friday evening with $614.75. Team No. 8, Captain Lieske, was high with $240. Team No. 7, Captain Cordis, second with $175, and Team No. 22, Captain Quimby, with $163 was third.

The leading division for the entire campaign was Division "B," W. B. Martin, leader, having collected $2,523.25. The second was Division D, leader Clarence Rowland with $1,287. The leading teams were No. 7, Mr. Cordis, captain, with a total of $1,119. The second team was No. 10, William Newkirk, captain, with a total of $1,051.50. The third team, No. 8, Charles Lieske, captain, with a total of $725. The fourth team, No. 22, Arthur Quimby, captain, with a total of $711.

The initial gifts committee turned in $4,700 Friday evening, and the teams $1,165.75, making a grand total of $5,865.75. This left a deficit of about $14,000, which Dr. Seeley and Charles Ramsey immediately guaranteed, saying, "that they had a number of calls, which they were confident would produce the balance needed." Several of the team captains immediately said, "that they had very good prospects and sure returns from industries and other places, and would turn in those totals on Monday."

The initial gifts were announced as follows:

Frank Coykendall	$250
Schryver Lumber Co.	100
S. C. Shultz	125
Everett & Treadwell	100

Additional gifts were reported as follows:

Mrs. John N. Cordis	$100
A. E. Rose	450
A. J. Burns	250
David Terry	500
W. C. DeWitt	125
Charles Ramsey	100
Admiral P. J. Higginson	500
Ralph K. Forsyth	500
Frederick G. Traver	500
Alva Staples	100

The meeting closed with brief remarks by Messrs. Ramsey, Flemming, Seeley, Martin and the campaign executive, H. W. Elridge. The closing speech was by the Rev. E. O. Clark, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion Church. He spoke feelingly and expressed the appreciation which his people felt with him of all that the workers had done. He thanked them for their sacrifice of time and effort. Dr. Seeley then adjourned the meeting.

FOUR ARMED MEN STAGE POLITE HOLDUP

Chicago, Oct. 27 (P).—Holdup men robbed Melvin A. Traylor, of the United States Golf Association and The First National Bank of Chicago, and John F. Hager, the bank's first vice president, and their wives Thursday night.

Four armed men accosted the party as they drove up to the Hager home. A diamond ring valued at $1,500 was taken from Mrs. Hager, while Mr. Hager lost $40 in cash and Mr. Traylor $25.

"This is a polite holdup, folks," one of the robbers said. "Keep cool and don't make a disturbance. You needn't even raise your hands—there's no use advertising this is a holdup."

Court of Honor For Boy Scouts

Investigating Investiture Ceremony at Court House Conducted by Judge Fowler—First and Second Class Pins Awarded to Scouts.

The court of honor of the Kingston district, Boy Scouts of America, was held in the court house as scheduled Friday evening. The troops marched up Broadway preceded by the American Legion Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps. Judge Joseph M. Fowler conducted the investiture ceremony which was followed by the awarding of the emblems by Stuart English. Judge Fowler in his address said that the things that the Scouts do, such as tying knots, cooking, camping, etc., if they are done well, while not the end in and of themselves, tend to help make the Scouts good citizens. The various tests, the Scout oath and laws all contribute towards making the Scouts better citizens in every way. He said that among the dozens of boys who had been before him as juvenile judges only two had been Scouts and that in the case of one of these it was found that it was not the boy's fault but rather the parents'.

The following Scouts were awarded their second class pins: Troop 1, Y. M. C. A.—Harold Baltz, Andrew Dykes, John Clark, Albert Marz, Fred Martino, C. A. Baltz, Jr., Herbert Glass, John Zaccaro, Burton Streeter.

Four Fires Kept Firemen Busy

Friday evening shortly after 8 o'clock fire broke out in the cellar of the residence of William Stork at 58 Andrew street, causing an alarm to be turned in from Box 23.

The fire was confined to the floor timbers in the cellar which were somewhat damaged before the fire was brought under control. Smoke also filled the house, causing some damage to the walls and house furnishings.

About 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the firemen were called to the home of Barton T. Lasher at 93 Foxhall avenue, where some paper that had been placed on the kitchen stove ignited, causing considerable smoke.

Another still alarm about 9 o'clock Friday evening called the firemen to 31 Sycamore street for a chimney fire in the apartments of Lizzie Woodsaw. There was no damage.

Shortly after midnight this morning the fire department responded to another still alarm for a fire in the Burgevin green houses on Pearl street. Fire from an overheated smoke pipe had ignited the timber in the flooring and the fire burned through into a closet on the first floor. The fire was soon brought under control and the damage was reported to be light.

In connection with giving all a chance to get a radio for nothing, the merchants are offering good bargains in all classes of merchandise. The business men have slashed prices to the lowest levels, as will be vouched for by purchasers who visited the downtown stores on the first two days of the sale. There are lots of good buys in the stores for this evening, as the business men thoroughly stocked up for the Third Annual Community Sale.

It is expected that there will be a great gathering downtown tonight to see the third radio given away. Samuel J. Chances taken Thursday and Friday will not be good for tonight. Economical persons, who seek bargains in merchandise and grasp an opportunity that presents itself seldom during a lifetime, are invited by the storekeepers to visit downtown tonight.

Mrs. Erleth Thanks Association

57 Newkirk Ave., Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 27, 1928.

Gentlemen: Last night when my neighbor told me I was the lucky person who won the second Atwater Kent Model 40 electric radio with tubes and speaker, I could not believe it, but I realized my good fortune this morning when this radio complete was delivered to me.

Please accept my thanks for this beautiful and lovely radio; it is just what I have wanted for a long time and the way in which you are giving them away is something the people of this city should be proud of—there are some times when there is a catch to something that is supposed to be free, but not so in this case for all I was required to do was to sign my name to a stub and necessary for me to make a purchase, and a reward of such honest dealing I trust your association will meet with great success so that with its existence the people of this vicinity will continue to avail themselves of the bargains always found in the stores of your members.

Sincerely yours, MRS. M. ERLETH

PRISONER ESCAPES WITH STEERING WHEEL

Malone, N. Y., Oct. 27 (P).—Although two customs officers seized three automobiles and arrested two men near here Thursday, they brought back to their headquarters here only one car and one man. Two of the cars were wrecked with their loads as the officers were driving them back. One driver was handcuffed to the steering wheel of his car while the officers pursued the other two automobiles and arrested Joseph Smith of Albany.

When the customs men returned they found the handcuffed driver had removed the steering wheel and escaped. They started for Malone and two of the captured machines. One of the cars blew two tires at the same time, plunged into the ditch and burned; the other one failed to respond to the brakes on a hill leading to a bridge and crashed into a stream. The officer driving this car jumped before it plunged through the guard rail.

FRANCE IS CONCERNED WITH FOREIGN INFLUX

Paris, Oct. 27 (P).—France is facing an immigration problem nearly as acute as that of the United States, and the increase in the foreign population here during the years 1921 to 1925 was three times the rate of the augmentation obtaining from 1911 to 1921.

There are at present in France 605 foreigners to every 100,000 inhabitants. The department of the Seine, including Paris, heads the list with 926 foreign residents for every 10,000 natives.

Hughes Defines State Socialism

Points Out Smith's Proposal for Modification of Prohibition and Equalization Fee for Farm Relief.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 27 (P).—Charles Evans Hughes, chief Governor Smith last night for jumping "for the martyr's crown."

In his third political speech of the campaign, Mr. Hughes defined the term "state socialism" as used by Herbert Hoover in describing Governor Smith's program.

"What Mr. Hoover meant by 'state socialism' is plain," said Mr. Hughes. "He used the term in its proper sense as applied to the Bismarckian philosophy of the centralization of government dominating all the activities of the people. Mr. Hoover is a liberal and opposed to state socialism."

"If the Governor's proposal for modification of prohibition is not the method of state socialism, as stated by Mr. Hoover, I do not know what it is."

"If the Governor is for the equalization fee for farm relief, Mr. Hughes said it would be the 'most gigantic program of government in commercial business ever proposed' and that if he is not for 'government operation of power plants then he is with Hoover, who insists upon complete control by the government.' He challenged the Governor to clarify his position on both of these issues."

Would Not Invalidate Amendment.

Asserting that even "if you put the state in control of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, you will have either no restrictions at all or else the most widespread corruption," Mr. Hughes said it would be "futile" to think of modification because the Supreme court will never "hold that it has the right to invalidate" the Eighteenth Amendment of the Volstead act.

"That, I believe," he said, "is one inescapable fact. Congress cannot pass a valid act which would give to the states authority to manufacture and sell intoxicating liquors contrary to the constitution."

Turning to the speech delivered in New York by the Republican presidential candidate to which the Governor took exception in his address at Boston, Mr. Hughes said that "if any one has called measures in the interest of health and human welfare, such as Governor Smith cited, socialistic measures, it is not Mr. Hoover."

Nobody Opposes Welfare Legislation.

"If anyone," he said, "has opposed Governor Smith as being socialistic in relation to such humanitarian legislation it is not Mr. Hoover. Is anyone in this campaign opposing Governor Smith with respect to such welfare legislation? Quite the contrary. The Republican party is stating its own progressive record."

Mr. Hughes closed the address with an attack on the Governor's administration of the fiscal affairs of the state and an endorsement of the state candidates.

Start Flight to Bermuda Sunday

Captain Lyon Will Be In The Navigator's Seat and Captain Lancaster at the Controls—Mrs. Keith Miller May Be Passenger.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Oct. 27 (P).—A small amphibian plane was being groomed here today for a takeoff Sunday morning for Bermuda, the first ever attempted to that small speck of land in the North Atlantic from New York.

In the navigator's seat will be Captain Harry Lyon, who safely chartered the flight of the monoplane Southern Cross from California to Australia. Captain W. A. Lancaster, veteran British flier, will be at the controls and rumor at the field had it that Mrs. Keith Miller, an Englishwoman, will be a passenger.

Captain Lancaster and Mrs. Miller flew from England to Australia early in January, coming to the United States with Captain Lyon on his return from the Southern Cross flight.

Mystery surrounded the preparations for the flight. They have been under way for two months and the secret was revealed only when department of commerce officials started a check of the machine.

Lyon and Lancaster plan to carry 250 gallons of fuel, enough for a round-trip flight to Bermuda. The extra fuel is being taken so that if they missed the tiny islands on their flight they would have enough gas left to make the mainland. The distance to Bermuda is 800 miles.

The plane, made by the Ireland Aircraft Corporation, is powered with a Wright whirling motor and has a speed of 160 miles an hour. It is all metal with open cockpits.

Captain Lyon, an experienced ship's navigator, felt no doubt as to his ability to navigate the plane safely to its destination, although Bermuda, with an area of only 12,600 acres, is much smaller than the Pacific Islands touched on the Southern Cross flight.

The difficulties of navigation caused cancellation of an air race from this field to Bermuda last year.

Freed in $2,000 Bail

Canisteo, N. Y., Oct. 27 (P).—Howard Smith of Whitesville was freed in $2,000 bail Friday on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Clifford LaFoy, Portageville. LaFoy was fatally injured when Smith's car struck a culvert near here.

Hoover Would Call Extra Session For Farm Relief

Unless Adequate Legislation Is Enacted at Regular Session of Congress This Fall, He Would Not Allow Matter to Drift But Would Call Extra Session So As to Secure Early Constructive Action.

Washington, Oct. 27 (P).—Herbert Hoover announced today that if the Republican party is returned to power he would call an extra session of Congress to deal with farm relief if adequate legislation should not be enacted at the coming session.

"The question of a special session of Congress after March 4 in the event of the return of the Republican party has been under discussion for some time," said a formal statement issued by the Republican Presidential candidate.

"There are a number of questions, particularly agricultural relief, which urgently require solution and should not be delayed for a whole year. It is our most urgent economic problem."

"I should hope it can be dealt with at the regular session this fall and thus a special session avoided. If, however, that cannot be accomplished I would, if elected, not allow the matter to drift and would of necessity call an extra session so as to secure early constructive action."

Little Business For School Board

Transacts Routine Business, Returns Contractor's Certified Check and Discusses Shades and Blackboards for No. 6 School.

A regular meeting of the board of education was held Friday evening at the offices of the board with Trustees Beeres, Fowler, Hayes, Terry, Katz and President Flemming present.

A communication was received from the State Education Department calling attention of the board to the fact that all persons under 17 years of age must attend full time school unless such students were eligible and held an employment certificate. The particular matter called to the attention of the board was the fact that no student can leave school between the ages of 16 and 17 unless he or she holds an employment certificate. Even though 16 years old it is necessary to attend school or hold such certificate. Employment certificates are issued after 14 years of age. The board has already been complying with this provision of the law although the board has never taken specific action on the matter. The matter was held over until next meeting to investigate before taking official action on the matter.

The payroll for October amounting to $28,850.02 and bills amounting to $10,721.07 were audited and ordered paid.

Trustee Beeres reported for the building committee that the contract for wiring No. 6 school had been awarded to Joseph A. McNellis & Company for $312, that company being the lowest of four bidders.

Contractor's Check Returned. A certified check of Weiber & Walter sent in as a deposit on a bid for roofing and metal work on the No. 6 contract, which has been held by the board for some time, was ordered returned. In submitting their bid Weiber & Walter through clerical work made a mistake on their bid. The bid was the lowest but was withdrawn on account of the error. When the matter was explained the board allowed the withdrawal of the bid.

Superintendent Michael reported that there were a number of new shades needed in the various schools to replace those worn out. New shades will also be needed at No. 6 school in the addition now being built. The supplies committee was authorized to seek local bids and contract for the shades which will be approximately 150 in number. A report was made that prices on 100 new desks for No. 6 school had not been received but the desks had not yet been purchased.

Blackboards Are Unsatisfactory. The matter of slate blackboards for No. 6 school was also brought to the attention of the board. The building committee was authorized to seek estimates and purchase. In addition to those needed at No. 6 there are two boards at No. 3 which need replacing with slate boards. They will be included. At present in two of the doors are composition boards which have been surfaced with slate paint which are being used but which are very unsatisfactory. They were installed a few years ago as a temporary makeshift.

A visiting committee consisting of Trustees Fowler, Hayes, Katz and President Flemming will act during the next month.

On motion of Trustee Hayes the board adjourned to meet on November 23.

MAYOR DEMPSEY WAS NOT CRITICISED AT MEETING

The Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, stated this morning that The Freeman reporter had been misinformed in regard to the meeting held Thursday evening in that church when the subject of Sunday observance was discussed by the Rev. N. S. Reeves when it was stated that Mayor Dempsey had been criticised for his failure to veto the action of the common council in adopting the measure calling for a vote on Sunday movies in November. Dr. Ellis stated that the mayor's name was not mentioned at the meeting.

Agriculture Most Urgent Problem

Hoover in his acceptance speech said the most urgent economic problem in the nation was in agriculture and that the working out of relief constituted "the most urgent obligation of the next administration." Ten days later at West Branch he announced "that all who had contributed to the realization that the problem must be solved" would be called into conference, among them former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois.

Whether, in the event of Republican victory, this conference would be called before or after inauguration has not yet been stated.

Senator Borah in his statement yesterday said the campaign had developed the farm relief issue "so that there need not be any unnecessary delay and that agriculture would get the benefit of it for the coming year."

"There is every reason for a special session," Borah concluded, "and I am certain it will be held."

Ottinger Wins Big Lawsuit for State

Former Chief Judge Hiseock of Court of Appeals, as Official Referee, Renders Sweeping Decision Sustaining Action Taken by Attorney General Ottinger.

Albany, Oct. 27 (P).—The state of New York, through Attorney General Albert Ottinger, was successful in its fight to protect its rights to the increased flow of water caused by the enlargement of the state canal system at Lockport, according to a decision made public Friday by Frank H. Hiseock, former chief justice of the Court of Appeals, sitting as official referee.

The decision holds that under a century-old lease, the Hydraulic Race Company of Lockport, one of the Niagara Falls Power Company groups, is entitled to the use of only that amount of water from the canal at Lockport which could have been surplus at the time the lease was made.

Randall J. Le Douef, Jr., who tried the case for the state as a special assistant attorney general, described the decision as "a smashing victory for the state on all points."

A lease issued by the state canal board in 1826 provided that the Hydraulic Race Company should pay the state $200 a year rental on all of the waters of the canal at Lockport not needed to operate the locks. Attorney General Ottinger said that the lease did not cover the added flow of water coming from the enlargement of the canal in 1874 and the construction of the barge canal, which amounted to approximately 1,000 cubic feet of water per second.

Lease in Dispute Nearly 100 Years. Various stages of the lease had been in dispute for nearly a hundred years before the Legislature, the canal board and the courts. The present case was instigated in 1925 when Col. Frederick Stuart Greene, state superintendent of public works, notified the company that he would order the gates leading into its raceway closed so that it would receive only the amount of water which could have been surplus from the 1826 Erie Canal, about 100 cubic feet per second.

At the same time Colonel Greene certified to the waterpower commission that the 1,000 per cubic feet balance, which had been used by the company for years, might be licensed by the commission to private interests upon an adequate rental injury to canal navigation.

The Hydraulic Race Company, through Henry W. Killen, at the trial of the case in Buffalo, said that the 1826 lease was so broad that the company had a right to all the surplus canal waters at Lockport, regardless of how greatly the canal might be enlarged. The further claim was made that state officials had by implication recognized the company's rights by permitting it to use, for long periods of years, the added flow of water created by the canal enlargement.

GERMAN WOMAN DEFENDS EFFEMINATE MODERN ERA

Berlin, Oct. 27 (P).—A growing effeminacy in men and a corresponding spread of masculinity in women is seen by Gerda von Below, well-known woman writer, who, in the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, considers this not as a symptom of a progressive degeneracy, but rather the promise of a gradual regeneration of the white race.

She describes it as a phenomenon signifying "the dynamic shifting of the sexes" demanding more than ever the creative cooperation of women, not so much to increase their efficiency in the competition with men as to strengthen their self-discipline preparatory to asserting in human society the dominating power of motherhood.

Led by President T. G. Masaryk (upper right) and Dr. Edward Benes, foreign minister (center), both among its founders Czechoslovakia is celebrating its tenth anniversary as an independent republic. Woodrow Wilson, who as president of the United States aided the young nation, is commemorated in Prague by a monument (left) and a railroad station (below).

Prague, Oct. 27 (P).—Ten years ago Czechoslovakia was an obscure Austrian province. Today it is one of the most progressive and virile states in central Europe.

American inspiration has guided the builders of Czechoslovakia. Since October 28, 1918, when the Austrians surrendered the keys of the City of Prague to a committee of public security, the young republic, which is about the size of the state of Wisconsin, has gone steadily forward.

It modeled its constitution and laws after those of the United States.

SINGS OF LORD LOVELL AND VOTES FOR HOOVER

Ladleton's 86 Year Old Laureate Visits Kingston.

George K. Hamilton, the 86 year old laureate of Ladleton, town of Denning, author and composer of the National Colonial Anthem of the United States of America, is spending a few days in Kingston en route to New York city where he sold a large number of copies of his composition. Mr. Hamilton is also the publisher of an amplified version of the old English ballad, "Lord Lovell," the amplifications being from his pen. The gifted composer and author of these songs is ready and willing to give demonstrations of their tuneful qualities and is the possessor of a most astonishingly clear and melodious voice of great power, considering his age.

Mr. Hamilton, a native of Ladleton and the person who gave that hamlet its name, has had a busy and varied career. Running away from home when a boy, on account of receiving undesired chastisement, he spent some years in the Hudson river valley and then went to the middle west, where he sojourned for a time, returning finally to the old home town to pursue the vocation of lumbering, wood working, farming and song writing. For the greater part of his life he was a Democrat, but later he saw the light, politically speaking, as the following from his pen shows:

Editor the Kingston Freeman and Journal, Kingston, N. Y.

Did the governor, Mr. Alfred E. Smith, have two hearts and two minds when he called a special Smith convention in Albany, N. Y., in the late summer before the state's convention to find the minds of the dissatisfied and discontent of the voters and people of both parties on the Prohibition and 18th amendment and the constitution of our United States of America. As the call of the convention was an All Smith call and cost the taxpayers and the people of our state of New York millions of dollars to be paid in taxes and call for a special convention for Mr. Al Smith when at the convention he made the best speech as he upheld the constitution of the United States and the 18th amendment of the Volstead Act and the dry law and the laws of our United States of America.

And did Alfred E. Smith have two hearts and two minds when he was nominated by the Democratic State Convention and accepted the nomination of the Democratic party on a wet issue or a wet heading and when elected Governor sworn to obey the constitution of the United States and uphold same when elected Governor two years ago. Did he have the two hearts and two minds when he wants to have the constitution changed at Washington when the parties both Democratic and Republican by the delegates of our nation head their national tickets for a dry issue. And also did the Mr. Alfred E. Smith when a Democratic candidate from New York state for the Presidency have two hearts and two minds when a few days before the Democratic national convention he called on the president's telegraph to the national Democratic convention at Houston, Texas that he would not accept the presidency of the United States of America on a dry heading or a dry ticket and if elected will the Mr. Alfred E. Smith have a changed mind when in his speeches and the speeches of his con-

Feminine Philosophy. Lightning is like a man; it won't shock you unless attracted.

The truth hurts some folks to tell it.

Inquisitive Old Lady—"And what does it stand for?" The Guide (sarcastically)—"Because, madam, it would look silly lying down."

If there were no God to worship some folks would be entirely satisfied with worshipping their particular denomination.

To err is human—to keep it quiet is not.

What Well-Dressed Man Will Wear. A style dispatch from Aberdeen, states that there will be no change in the pockets of Scotch tweed suits this season.

Approximately $2,000,000 more was spent by American people on chewing gum last year than in 1926. The total amount expended for the flavored wax in 1927 reached the tidy sum of $58,018,271. We profess to be no student of economy. But the thought just struck us that perhaps the agitators have been shouting up the wrong chimney. Maybe this farm relief problem can be handled successfully by the gum chewers. Anyhow, none of these advertising agencies have started the slogan: "See Mexico First." Many an actress could tell you the longest run she ever had was in her hose.

Life is something like continuous vaudeville—half the people are looking around for "This Way Out" and the other half for "This Way In."

Some girls think marriage is merely a stop-over on the road to alimony.

SWISS WOMEN DENOUCE DISRESPECT TOWARD SEX

Geneva, Oct. 27 (P).—Advertisements which portray women in costumes extra-neglige have encountered the ire of Swiss feminist organizations.

Six or more associations have addressed a public protest to the newspapers decrying the increasing habit of representing women in newspapers or in shop windows in a state of semi-nudity. They hold that it strikes a blow at the dignity of womanhood and is demoralizing to the youth of the country.

"A nation is strong only in proportion to its morality," says the protest, which urges the imposing of a boycott on stores, newspapers and magazines which persist in showing lack of respect to womanhood.

OLD "HOUSE OF BOOMS" STILL PUZZLES LONDON

London, Oct. 27 (P).—The House of Booms is what Londoners call the 300-year old building in White-chapel, the Jewish section of the metropolis, named the "Proof House of the Gunmakers' Company." It bears in carved letters the words: "Established by Charter, Anno Domini 1637."

Passers-by are often astonished at the deep, dull booms which force their way from the low, sombre building, with its iron-studded door and blind windows of solid brick.

Those who are in on the secret know that these explosions occur during tests made of gun-barrels and other small arms made in or imported into England.

AFGHAN KING BUILDS HIMSELF NEW CAPITAL

London, Oct. 27 (P).—The new Afghan capital city, Darulaman, which will replace old Kabul, is nearing completion on modern and completely western lines, say Afghan newspapers reaching here.

The city is the inspiration of King Amanullah, who recently visited European countries, and is ambitious of transplanting western ideas, culture and methods of living to his mountain kingdom.

The nucleus of the new city is the official quarter. This will consist of a modern palace, equipped with the latest facilities, and a number of huge government buildings which will house all state departments.

ARTIST REGRETS MODERN "WORSHIP OF UGLINESS"

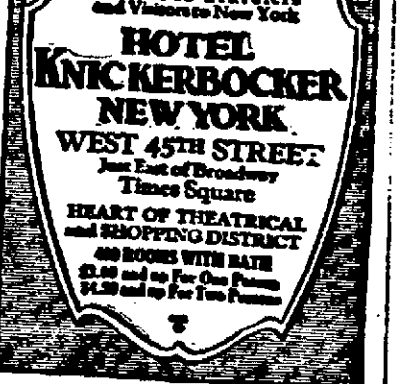

Guildford, Surrey, England, Oct. 27 (P).—A decided trend toward the "worship of ugliness" in modern art was derided by Sir Frank Dicksee, president of the Royal Academy, in opening the Guildford Art Exhibition.

"There is a curious spirit abroad of restlessness, of deploring all the best traditions and of deeming the accepted standards," said this eminent artist. "We see it not only in art, but to a certain extent in literature and music."

There is a worship of ugliness instead of the spirit of beauty, and a certain contempt for beautiful form. Even Greek art, which is the most perfect art in the matter of form, I find on many sides derided—and it is even called "pretty."

FRANCE ANNOUNCES NEW PASSENGER AIR SERVICE

Bordeaux, Oct. 27 (P).—The first flights with passengers have inaugurated a new airplane service from Bordeaux to Geneva and return. Landings are made at Clermont and Lyon on the way. The new line is known as the "Line of the 45th Parallel," which it follows fairly closely.

Roosevelt Wants New Local Laws

Changes in Government of County and Town, in Albany Address—Cable Press—Law Anticipated.

Mr. Roosevelt today reserved for himself a full day from speeches and making his last bid at Albany for the governorship. He spent the week in New York city, the Democratic stronghold of the state. Although he had only a six mile drive to the capital, the Democratic senatorial nominee apparently considered his prospects in the Albany Republican Remonstrance very important enough to warrant all day stay in his seat. Troy, in conference with local leaders and consideration of correspondence which has piled up on him during ten days of campaigning. After his address in Albany, where he would discuss Governor Smith's legislative accomplishments, Roosevelt said he would immediately drive to his home at Hyde Park, near Poughkeepsie, where he would spend the week and be going to New York city for closing stretch of the campaign.

American Listed Among Victims

London, Oct. 27 (AP).—Some dispatches reaching London today said a death toll in the railroad wreck at the small Rumanian town of Buza was between 60 and 70, or put double the number officially announced in statements from Bucharest. Fifty persons were injured. One American described as Arnold, a merchant of Chicago, was among the dead. First reports numbered Alexander Herschler, general manager of the Wahl Eyeglass Company of New York, as having been killed but later was described as not seriously injured. Still another American whose name is not reported, but who was described as a representative of an unnamed Chicago newspaper, was said to have escaped injury. The wreck occurred yesterday morning when the internationally owned Simplon Express, speeding toward Paris at 60 miles an hour, dived into a ditch and crashed into the Hermannstadt-Bucharest express. The isolated scene of the disaster and difficulties of communication have prevented a full story of the wreck from reaching the world. Great confusion has attended efforts to identify the victims.

PORT PERMITS HUSBAND TO ATTEND WIFE'S FUNERAL

St. Louis, Oct. 27 (AP).—The wish of a dying woman to keep her estranged husband from attending her funeral brought Fred Branganzi into justice of the peace court seeking writ of replevin to be allowed to bury her. The writ was granted but legal oversight kept officers from carrying the body from the home of the dead woman's parents, as the writ failed to include the coffin, provided by her father, and officers couldn't remove the body. Back in court, Branganzi secured from the court an order to sit near his wife's casket during the funeral. But no words must pass between him and his wife's relatives.

Frocks Taking on Two Waistlines

New Fall Fashions Change to Conform With Nature's Silhouette.

A few years ago we tried to be boyish. Now, as each new season approaches, there is great talk that girls, after all, must be girls. Soft-contoured, feminine, delicate, dainty and even softer than ever, says Jane Warren, who is in the front and Florida. For some time waistlines have been trying to tighten—not to the waist but to conform with nature's silhouette. Frocks, in order to make the change gracefully, are taking on two waistlines—one at the point where we were accustomed to seeing it, and another slightly higher. Before frocks and their waistlines both help us to accept the new waistline without feeling a radical change. The smart dress lines for evening admit a more slender waistline. This combined with the irregular hemline gives a dress resembling the fashion of long ago. Some of the new sleeveless party frocks are made to wear for afternoon as well. They have a long-sleeved jacket of matching material to be worn with them for less formal occasions.

Blouse Effect Affords Attractive Feature in Fall Frocks.

Many of the sports dresses achieve a slender effect by fitting quite snug at the top of the hips. Two snap-fasteners at each side are sometimes used to pull the dress more closely. This produces the slightest suggestion of a blouse effect, just enough to express a new fashion subtlety. Speaking of sleeves, fashion is more exacting than ever that they should fit perfectly. The shoulder-line is shorter and the top of the sleeve is the shoulder curve with precise grace. For several seasons past too many have depended upon a necktie or strand of pearls to make severe necklines becoming. These will continue in favor, but fashion has relented somewhat in regard to collars and enclosures soft folds of fabric in ivory or flesh color for the neckline. These not only make the dress more becoming but give a trig fresh look.

Moire is Being Shown for New Evening Wraps

Moire is being shown by both French and American modistes in every type of evening wrap. One brought from the Paris atelier of Madeleine des Hayes is of the dolman shape. It has a wide girdle, placed very low, to lift the wrap into a bloused effect in an upward movement toward the front. To this is attached a circular sash, dipping sharply at the back, rippling all around and ending with a large bow of the moire placed at the opening in front. Translucent velvet in violet hue is made in a coat dolman, which also has a flaring bottom and a scarf about the neck. The bolero jacket, with and without sleeves and covered solidly with polished sequins, which Choquet introduced a year ago, is much in vogue for wear with tulle dresses, and is being shown in vivid colors, gold and black.

Collars Framing Head Appear in Fall Mode

Paris openings indicate a preference for such fur as broadtail, mink, seal and karakul in entire coats, and for sheared lamb, karakul and astrakhan used for trimming. The Theban fur group emphasizes broadtail in various shades. The feeling for color variation appears also in seal, where the golden brown tone is favored. Collars frame the head, standing upright in a fashion suggestive of the Medici line. Jane Bogan approves the fur-lined coat, employing minkrat to line beige crepe on a coat finished with mink collar and lapels of beaver. This costume is indeed a fur for coat trimmings.

Rabbi Criticises "King of Kings"

Rabbi Rose Says Producers Encouraged Accumulated Prejudices of Many Centuries—Nobody Has Right to Impose on Jew the Stigma of the Middle Ages.

At the Friday evening services in Temple Emanuel, Rabbi Morris Rose offered the following criticism of "The King of Kings," now being shown in a local theatre:

"There are certain privacies in the life of every person, which one never discloses. They may be obvious and generally known and yet we prefer to contemplate them ourselves. In our accepted religious traditions every group has a number of ideas, principles—or dogmas if you prefer—which inhere in its blood and the impressions which permeate their souls are too sacred for anyone to play upon particularly when treated lightly and with an inexcusable levity.

"This marvelous production when judged from a pecuniary point of view has received all the attention and rich ornamentation that endless resources of wealth could acquire. It lacks, however, the understanding of the problems involved in its presentation from an artistic and historical appreciation of the story. The producers were encountering the accumulated prejudices of many centuries, as well as an unfathomed mine of knowledge essential to staging this play whose influence favorably or unfavorably is boundless.

"If the producers intended to bring home the truth of the birth of the new religion, which dominates western civilization, then they miserably failed. They and the directors have broken every sense of logical sequence and consistency in the choice of characters and their historic parts.

Decorations for Veterans' Ball

Decorations for the annual masquerade ball of Joyce-Schirick Post, No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the armory on Halloween night, October 31, will be something unusual. The committee in charge of the affair plans to provide some exceptional entertainment and there will be prizes awarded for costumes. With excellent music for the affair and the spirit of Halloween prevailing throughout the evening the veterans expect to give patrons an exceptionally good time. There has been a very large number of patrons this year to the ball and a large attendance is anticipated.

The Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor held its annual rally and social on Friday night at the Fair Street Reformed Church. After the reports of the committees, roll call was taken and the shield was awarded to the society at Port Jervis, having the largest percentage of members present. The nominating committee gave its report and the following officers were elected for the year 1928-1929: President, Beatrice S. Powley; first vice president, Milton Townsend; second vice president, Lawrence Jensen; recording secretary, Lillian Coffin; corresponding secretary, Eva Newkirk; pastoral advisor, the Rev. J. Philip Goetz.

After the business session a social time was enjoyed and refreshments served.

Producing Crepe Effects
Crepe effects in shabbed goods are produced by alternating a right and left hand highly twisted thread in the warp and filling the fabric with a tightly twisted yarn. When the woven goods are boiled off and dyed the effect of the alternately twisted threads will be the pecking up of the fabric as noted in crepe de chine.

General McQuigg Dies at His Home

Cleveland, Oct. 27 (AP).—Brigadier General John R. McQuigg, 62, commander of the 112th Engineers, 37th Division, during the World War, and national commander of the American Legion in 1925, is dead. He died at his home here late last night after an illness of a year.

He was born in Wooster, Ohio, December 5, 1866. He affiliated himself with the Cleveland Grays, an independent military organization, in 1892 and when the Spanish American War broke out organized the Grays into three companies which became part of the Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was captain of one of the companies but did not get to Cuba. Later the 112th Engineers was organized and McQuigg recruited a battalion which was made a part of the Ohio National Guard.

When the United States entered the World War, the Ohio division, the 37th, was organized and the 112th became a part of it.

Finally he asked for the creation of a federal farm board equipped with a revolving fund to assist the farmer in getting his surplus crops to the consumer.

LINDBERGH ON ZEPPELINS.

It is interesting but not unexpected to find that Col. Lindbergh in his comment on the achievement of the Graf Zeppelin, sees no rivalry between the airplane and the dirigible.

In his view all types of machines and airships will have their uses, each having its province and to be judged by its performance. In a published article giving his impressions of the recent crossing of the Atlantic he dismisses as hasty the criticisms of the handling of the great dirigible, and pointedly says: "What if the Count Zeppelin did arrive behind schedule? Should we compare centuries of shipping development to a maiden flight of the product of a new industry? An ocean liner would be delayed by a broken rudder." The performance, he says, "should be viewed rather as an indication of what may be done when ocean flight is no longer an experiment."

He even goes so far as to say that for the present the airship has definitely established its superiority over heavier-than-air craft, but conservatively adds: "In our enthusiasm, however, we should not overlook the necessity for sound development. We are not yet ready for passenger traffic over the North Atlantic, either by airship or airplane.

We should obtain more experience from operation over safer routes." In his judgment, not until air lines are extended from the United States into South America and between Europe, Asia and Africa, and problems of safer flight are solved, shall we be "on the threshold of transoceanic flight." Obviously all this suggests sober maturity rather than the youthful daring that carried the

"Lone Eagle" over a pioneer route

across the Atlantic.

THE PRINCESS ANASTASIA.

It appears that, following the death of the Empress Dowager of Russia, virtually all the remaining members of the Russian royal family signed a statement rejecting the claims of the young woman, Mme.

Tchaikowsky, to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia, daughter of the late Emperor Nicholas. The statement presents seeming proof of their view in the form of testimony by the dentist who treated the Grand

Duchess Anastasia, by scientific men who have compared the measurements of the two women, and by persons who have seen them both.

This would seem to dispose of the alleged proof to the contrary and fully satisfy the greater part of the disinterested public, but we may be sure that doubt will linger, becoming extinct slowly if ever.

The story that a daughter of the Czar, though shot down with others of the royal family, was not mortally wounded, was rescued from the bloody cellar at Ekaterinburg, and finally escaped out of Russia—this story is too dramatic and alluringly romantic to be surrendered easily, particularly by imaginative Russians with a lingering loyalty to the old regime. Other similar stories, such as that of the Man-in-the-Iron-Mask

(alleged twin brother of Louis XIV) have survived after centuries, still retaining fascination for lovers of mystery and romance.

The alleged Grand Duchess Anastasia may be a brazen fake, but her remarkable story is likely to live long after she herself has passed from earth.

TRAIN SPEED.

Americans have a self-satisfaction that they excel the world in all forms of speed, especially in railroad service. Apparently this is not the case. The fastest train in America today is said to average

53.6 miles an hour, including time for its frequent stops. England has a train on the Great Western Railroad which averages 61.8 miles an hour. France is said to have more than 50 trains running regularly on schedules calling for 55 to 59 miles an hour.

Now a new passenger train, on the Orleans Railroad, running toward the Spanish frontier, surpasses all competitors. On a recent trial it made 74 miles an hour with a full load. It is expected to run 100 miles an hour, using steel cars and a short train. This, it should be added, is an electrified railroad. Such great speed is scarcely practicable with steam. Electric locomotives, given a fine roadbed, are capable of almost any speed.

The "book wagon" idea is not confined to the rural districts. The

New York public library has a truck which makes "daily trips through outlying sections of the Bronx and delivers books just as if they were necessities like milk and ice." Well, food for the mind is needed as well as food for the body.

Maurice Rostand's play, "Napoleon

IV," dealing with the death of the French Prince Imperial in Africa, has recalled the story that when Captain Carey rushed to camp with the news that he had seen the Prince killed by the Zulus, Sir Redvers Bul-ster asked: "And why are you alive,

Captain Carey?"

Oxford and Yale will discuss the question as to whether "the best life is a public life." Countless candidates for office in this and the other countries of the world look ago decided this question in the affirmative.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY

James W. Barton, M. D.

REDUCING WEIGHT.

Did you ever consider at just what weight you feel best?

A few pounds less than this weight and you feel just a little less like working or playing; a few pounds more, and you feel heavy, clumsy in fact, and somewhat sluggish.

There seems to be a weight for your particular age and body that is just "right."

Perhaps you are the very thin type, troubled a little with "indigestion." As you pick and choose just the foods that agree with you, it is not long before you are a number of pounds below your normal or

"right" weight.

Or you may be one of those overweight folks and find yourself growing two or three pounds heavier every month until you are twenty to forty pounds overweight.

The family doctor will tell the underweight individual that food, food of the right kind, and rest, are the means to be used if the weight is to be regained.

This food will be milk, eggs,

plenty of vegetables and liquids.

And the overweight individual?

Here also the treatment rests on the same two things, food and rest, which must be cut down considerably.

A simple method is to cut down on the starches and liquids by fifteen to twenty-five per cent, and if possible on the rest to the same extent.

It is unfortunate that our overweight friends feel that if they could use the thyroid extract they could get results more quickly and more easily. They got their overweight in just one way, eating too much,

and they must get it off in the same manner, that is reducing the intake.

The thyroid extract is only of use where the individual was born with a thyroid that doesn't secrete a juice that keeps the tissues balanced. As you know they are able now, by the use of a machine, to tell you whether your thyroid juice does more or less than it is considered normal.

Where it does less, and allows too much fat to be stored, your doctor is quite willing to use the thyroid extract.

In these cases where the individuals eat too much and exercise too little, the thyroid has no effect.

ONLY ONE AUSTRALIAN

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 27 (P).

—The chief librarian of the public library of New South Wales told a re-ence in Melbourne University that not one Australian in four ever read a book.

"In both city and country districts," he said, "there is surprising ignorance among the people concerning the value of books. For the most part people get their reading from the newspapers."

ALPS WATER POWER

Gardonne, Lake Garda, Oct. 27 (P).

—D'Annunzio visited the gigantic hydro-electric plant being built at the nearby Lake Ledro and predicted that "eternal riches will come from the eternal flow of streams from the snow-capped Alps."

The unique feature of this undertaking which will be finished before the end of the year and, it is hoped, will be inaugurated by Premier

Mussolini, is that it is non-speculative and that no private capital is invested in it. The entire enterprise, which is one of the most important of modern engineering, has been financed with funds supplied by the provinces of Verona and Bologna, besides a few of the municipalities directly concerned, including Riva,

the largest city bathed by the Lake of Garda, and Rovereto on the Innsbruck-Trent railway line. The last two are both situated on ex-Austrian territory and were annexed to Italy

after the last war. The electric power, which the new plant will produce is destined almost exclusively for agricultural and industrial purposes.

The power is produced by a fall of 1,840 feet, obtained by joining the Lake of Ledro to the Lake of Garda

by means of an artificial gallery

through Mount d'Oro, which divides

the two. The Lake of Ledro is 2-

135 feet above the sea and that of Garda only 210.

The gallery connecting the two lakes starts at 85 feet below the water level of the first, reaching the second in less than 4 miles, and the quantity of water passing through this gallery can be regulated in its terric fall almost perpendicular

Shaft for Author Of Suwanee River

Fargo, Ga., Oct. 27 (P).—A granite shaft weighing more than three tons today stood near the headwaters of the Suwanee River as a memorial to Stephen Collins Foster, whose plaintive melody, "Suwanee River," made the stream famous throughout the world.

A national touch was given the unveiling exercises, set for 11 a. m. today, when it was announced that "Suwanee River," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe," and other Foster songs were to be broadcast over a chain of radio stations by the National Broadcasting Company, New York.

Foster Melodies sung by a male quartet from Waycross, and a brief program by school children under direction of Mrs. J. L. Walker, Waycross, were on the program for the local exercises. C. J. Haden of Atlanta, donor of the shaft, was to make the presentation to the state.

Georgians prominent in civic, literary and musical circles were invited here to honor Foster.

A Pennsylvania concern donated a site for the memorial on the Douglas Lake City highway.

Rowe Fell Into Mercury Tank

Edward Rowe of Albany avenue, while at work at the Brewster powder plant at Port Ewen this morning lost his footing and fell into a tank filled with mercury. He was fished out by his fellow workmen and the city ambulance called which removed him to the City of Kingston Hospital. Rowe was not injured by his sudden immersion in the big tank. At the hospital later in the morning he said that he thought he had swallowed some of the fluid for his throat felt somewhat sore.

EXCELSIOR HOSE FINDS ADS. IN THE FREEMAN PAY

The most successful card party ever sponsored by Excelsior Hose was held in the engine house, Hurley avenue, Friday evening, and the firemen lay the accomplishment to The Kingston Daily Freeman.

In speaking of the card party, which was attended by over 150 players, a representative of the hose company said to a reporter today: "We took a two inch advertisement in The Freeman; told about the good prizes and refreshments and that is what made the party a success." Freeman advertising surely pays, according to this fireman's way of thinking, and owing to the fact that it was the first "ad" the company used to tell of a card party, he must be right.

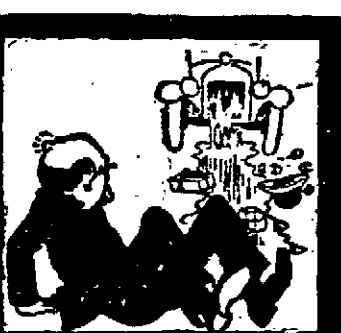

The card party proceeds will be used by Excelsior Hose Company Band to purchase new uniforms. This group of musicians has come forth with its services for the public on whatever occasion requested, and, it is felt, deserves the patronage of all who like to play cards at the weekly card parties, held every Friday evening in the engine house.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Oct. 27 (P).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—Supplies of celery from upstate New York on the local wholesale market were light this morning. Trading was light. Nevertheless price changes were few and small. Offerings in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates, brought $2.25-$3 on the good to fancy and $1-$2 on the poor to ordinary.

Trading was rather active on large-sized Greening apples and consequently under light receipts, values strengthened. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch, wholesaled at $2-$2.25 a bushel basket, while 2 1/4 inch fruit ranged from $1.75-$1.75.

Recent apple exports from United States and Canada have been around 200,000 barrels and 350,000 boxes per week. This is twice as many barrels and four times as many boxes as during the early part of October, 1927.

The demand for cauliflower was more active and prices tended upward. Arrivals were moderate. Long Island crates jobbed out at $1.50-$2.50 on the fancy pack and $1-$1.25 on the No. 2.

Green peas were in short supply and almost exclusively from California. Shipments varied greatly in quality and condition and sales ranged from $2.50-$7 a bushel hamper.

Prices on fancy tender string beans were sustained without great difficulty. Ordinary and poor stocks, however, tended lower. Various green varieties wholesaled at $1.50-$6 per hamper. Wax beans sold at $1.50-$5.

Arrivals of state Concord grapes were moderate. Although the early morning demand was slow prices held steady in a rather dull market. Sales on 12 quart baskets were at 65-70 cents.

The demand for lettuce was fairly good on fancy but very limited on poor. Supplies were light. Western New York crates of Big Boston peddled out at 50c-$1.75. California Iceberg brought $4.50-$6.

Considerably less lettuce is expected from California during the next few months than was shipped last fall. A total of 19,220 acres of fall lettuce is about 2,100 below the 1927 figure. Plantings scheduled for harvesting during October, November and December amount to 2,600 acres less than were harvested during the same period last season.

Wilbur Dance On November 2.

Trousseau Hat Box Need Not Be Large--

USE OF FUR IN HEADGEAR LURES WOMEN FROM FELT.

New York.—Milliners, casting about in despair for something on which to lure women from felt, have hit happily upon the idea of using fur. Skull caps of Persian lamb, krimmer and other furs have met with response. It has come to pass that one may have a fur, or fur-trimmed hat (cap, rather) to match one's fur sports coat, or to complete a more formal ensemble. The evening cap, too, has been accepted, so that the bride with social career ahead of her, finds at least a half dozen hats on the "must" list of her trousseau wants.

Soleil, velvet, tricot, tweed, fur and felt may make up the six, but then there is hatters' plush and all manner of novelties as well.

The large hat has vanished with the rose. The small one must fit the head and should, after the French manner, be made on it. The movement follows that of the dress silhouette, which is backward. Eyebrows brave the light of day and even a bit of forehead is dared but ears are completely submerged to such an extent, in fact, that they impair one's hearing and make telephoning a disturbing process, disturbing usually to the angle of the hat which must be shifted or have its flap turned back.

In the majority of instances one side of a hat contradicts the other. If there is a brim, it is rarely the same proportion at both sides. Trimmings careen the cheek, usually the right.

Swathed turbans, again with the up in the front bandage arrangement are chic in velvet when one is clad in fur and velvet.

Greeks Venerate Relics of Saints

Corfu, Greece, Oct. 27 (AP).—Corfu lately has been interested in the changed ownership of the body of Saint Spyridon, the patron-saint of that island, after whom many Corfuers are named.

The saint was a Cypriot ecclesiastic, whose body was brought for safety to the then Venetian island of Corfu, when the Turks captured Constantinople. A girl, descendant of the person who had brought the relics, married one of the famous Boulgaris family, and her dowry was the body of the saint.

For centuries it remained the property of successive generations of the Boulgaris clan, on condition that one of the family became a priest and looked after the body, which reposed in a church. The old believed to have been rendered by the saint in repulsing the two Turkish sieges of Corfu in 1527 and 1716 increased his reputation as a wonder-worker, and large offerings were made at his shrine, of which the proprietory family took a percentage.

A movement arose in Corfu, however, for the transference of ownership of the body to the ecclesiastical authorities. It was pointed out that at the moment no Boulgaris was a priest, and it was felt that the Greek Catholic church should reap the financial benefits derived from the offerings of the faithful. Despite the protests of the Boulgaris family, the transfer was made and a curious form of family heirloom thus ended.

Another strange case has recently occurred in the island of Euboea. Greek refugees from Prokopli in Asia Minor in 1922 brought to Chalkis the relics of their local saint, who had been a Russian general during the Russo-Turkish war of 1828.

Some of the Prokopli refugees went farther inland to Achmetaga, the estate of the English family of Noel. They did not prosper there, and attributed their misfortunes to the absence of relics. Accordingly, they raided Chalkis by night, and carried off the relics to the church at Achmetaga, where it was put under guard.

24 STATES INCREASE

THEIR GASOLINE TAXES

Washington, Oct. 27.—Keeping step with the insistent popular demand for better streets and highways, 24 states during 1927 increased their gasoline taxes according to an analysis made by the American Motorists' Association.

On January 1, 1927, the average gasoline tax in the 44 states and the District of Columbia, then operating under gasoline tax system, was 2.56 cents per gallon. By December 31, 1927, increases put into effect in 24 states had brought the average gasoline tax in the United States up to 3.19 cents per gallon, an average increase of .63 cents per gallon.

More than $258,800,000 was raised by gasoline taxes for good roads during 1927. Of this fund $182,000,000 was spent on state highways; $55,400,000 went to local roads; $10,000,000 was apportioned to state and county road bond pavements and the remainder went for collection costs of the taxes, and for miscellaneous projects allied to road building.

During the year, the states of Alabama, Maryland, New Mexico and Texas increased their gasoline taxes two cents a gallon, while one cent increases were put into effect by Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, New Hampshire, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Vermont. Georgia, West Virginia and Wyoming increased their gasoline tax one-half cent per gallon. The state of Illinois put into effect a two cent gasoline tax on August 1, 1927, but this was declared unconstitutional and the tax was discontinued February 25, 1928. New Jersey established a two cent tax July 1, 1927, computed above as a two cent increase.

In New Hampshire the tax was two cents per gallon on January 1, 1927, being raised to three cents per gallon in May, 1927, and on January 1, 1928, four cents a gallon tax went into effect in that state.

Only the states of New York and Massachusetts had no gasoline tax at the close of 1927, and these states with Illinois, to date, are the only ones where funds for the improvement and maintenance of existing roads and construction of new roads are not raised under this system.

BERLIN WILL BUILD

A PALACE OF YOUTH

Berlin, Oct. 27 (AP).—Plans for the construction of Berlin's "Palace of Youth" have been approved calling for expenditures totalling $1,000,000.

It is designed to serve as a social welfare center where organizations connected with the German Youth Movement will have their headquarters. The former Kaiser's Bellevue Palace was considered at one time but proved too small.

Great building projects are afoot in other parts of the capital. These include a new department of justice building costing $2,500,000 and the largest covered swimming bath in the world. A glass dome 500 feet in diameter will span a water course 65 feet wide. A sandy shore with artificial sunshine and seaside mural paintings will create the impression of outdoor bathing.

It will be heated in winter and cooled in summer and will provide accommodations for 33,000 bathers daily. There will be medicinal baths of all kinds and physical exercise hall equipped with modern apparatus. The cost is estimated at $3,000,000 and a small entrance fee will enable the promoters to operate the establishment at a profit.

INCOME INCREASED FROM HIGHER EFFICIENCY.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—The first 25 railroads to report September earnings had net operating income of $56,869,000, an increase of 2 1/2 per cent over the like month of last year, when the total for the same 25 was $55,457,000. It was disclosed yesterday.

The increase resulted primarily from higher operating efficiency as the September gross operating income, totaling $224,002,000, was about one per cent less than the gross for September, 1927. The effects of higher efficiency, however, were less marked than in August, when the gross for all roads was about the same as for the previous August, but the net jumped 8 per cent. The September gross for the 25 roads shows a substantial increase over their August gross, which was $218,013,000.

Yellow Jackets Ready to Battle Cohoes All-Stars

Locals Will Meet Strong Eleven Sunday at Fair Grounds—Upstate Team Comes Here With Good Reputation—Record Crowd Expected to See Contest.

Kingston's representative football team, the Yellow Jackets, are set for their war with the Cohoes All-Stars at the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon. The tilt will start at 3 o'clock and is expected to be played before a record crowd.

In the Cohoes team the local boys will face not alone a team considerably heavier but also experienced players. The All-Stars rank high among teams of the up-state district for the eleven is made up of former college, high school and professional players of the game. During its existence the Cohoes team has licked some of the best in the territory.

George Brooks and Ray Craft, managers of the Yellow Jackets, are looking for the best there is to be slated as opponents of the local representatives. In the Cohoes team some fans believe, the Yellow Jackets will find that they have bitten off more than they can chew, but the players are confident that matters will turn out O. K. Coach Preston has given the Jackets a list of aerial plays that are expected to work wonders against the up-staters Sunday.

Manager Brooks says, "If you want to see a good football game, pay a visit to the Fair Grounds Sunday." Indications point to all truth in the statement, and it is believed that many will take Brooks's tip and spend Sunday afternoon at the game.

K. H. S. Eleven At Middletown

Kingston High School football squad is playing the Middletown High eleven in Middletown today. This is a DUSO League game and the locals must win to keep in the league race. Kingston lost its first game to Poughkeepsie, while Newburgh and Middletown played a tie game.

IDEAL FOOTBALL WEATHER PROMISED FOR YALE GAME

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 27 (AP).—With the promise of ideal football weather today, the stage was all set for the annual clash of Army and Yale. Every seat in the huge Yale bowl, holding nearly 75,000 people, was sold weeks ago.

The Army came here slightly handicapped by injuries to her first string men. Captain Sprague, who probably starts the game but will not remain in the lineup very long. He was injured last week in the Harvard tilt. O'Keefe, at the quarter position for the West Pointers, was another of the injured but was to be in the lineup at the opening whistle. Neither of these men will remain in the game but will be used in case of emergency.

Yale will start the game with her eleven intact with the exception of Olet, who still is on the injured list with a crippled shoulder. Crile was delegated to Olet's position at right end, and Hickok will replace McEwen at left end. McEwen was dropped to the second squad this week. Garvey and Decker will start in the backfield but will be replaced and put in reserve. Ell this season has been faced with a shortage of strong reserve material.

The clash today marked the twenty-eighth meeting of the Yale and Army elevens. Yale thus far had won 17 games to Army's four. Six games resulted in tied scores. The Army took the 1926 battle with a count of 33 to 0, but last year Yale countered and won 19 to 6.

RED SHIELDS PLAY FIRST GAME MONDAY

The Red Shield basketball team will play the opening game of the season Monday night on the Salvation Army court, meeting the New Paltz All-Stars. The Red Shield players are Joyce, manager; H. Smith, DuBois, Bratt, Short, Bucholtz and Stumph.

Big Grid Games In East Today

Army Makes the Favorite Over Yale—Dartmouth Meets Strong Harvard Squad—Fifteen Unbeaten Teams in Action.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Eastern college football teams have had a week to score in fun against the scrubs, but touchdowns count today. It behooves the East's 15 undefeated and untied teams to get "in there" and see to it that more touchdowns are scored for them against them.

However you figure it, at least one of those 15 winning streaks is not going to live to see another Saturday. Army and Yale, victorious in all previous engagements, clash at New Haven in the football piece de resistance of the day. One or both will see a clean record spoiled either by defeat or tie. Army, boasting a veteran aggregation, rules the favorite but the Bulldogs of Yale in the past have had the Cadets "number" and it may happen that the jinx still holds.

All other unbeaten and untied elevens in the eastern sector face opposition not so fortunate. But that does not mean that more will not fall by the wayside before the strife is over for another week.

Cornell, easy victor over her first three opponents, meets a Princeton eleven tied by Virginia but none the less a threat to any opponent.

Dartmouth's unbeaten array travels to Cambridge to battle one of the strongest Harvard squads of recent years. With Marsters as the offensive spark, Dartmouth figures to win but Crimson supporters are not paying off in advance of the game itself.

New York University and Carnegie Tech, both in the select class, may have more than they can handle in Colgate and Pittsburgh respectively but Georgetown and Pennsylvania, first and second in team scoring, are prime favorites to win over Duke and the Navy.

Among the smaller undefeated and untied colleges, Williams, Tufts and Duquesne seem most likely to end the day on the wrong side of the ledger. Williams's light array, even with such a star as Langmaid, is an outsider against Columbia; Tufts' season and a half winning streak should come to an abrupt halt against Brown, and Geneva looks strong enough to stop Duquesne. Boston College, Temple, Villanova and Harvard have no less than an even chance against Boston University, Providence, Lebanon Valley and St. John's of Maryland, respectively.

The State of Pennsylvania offers three other outstanding frays. At State College Syracuse battles Penn State; West Virginia takes on Lafayette, and Bucknell clashes with Gettysburg.

While Williams is meeting Columbia at New York, the other two members of the "Little Three" will be staging a private fight of their own at Middletown, Conn. Holy Cross, beaten by Fordham a week ago, meets Marquette at Worcester in an intercollegiate battle while Fordham is entertaining Washington and Jefferson at the Polo Grounds. Lehigh will try to settle a few accounts with Muhlenberg, at Bethlehem, and Swarthmore meets Johns Hopkins.

NEW UNIFORMS ARRIVE FOR CONGREGATIONALS

The new uniforms which were ordered a few weeks ago for the Congregational quintet are at the Charles A. Warren sporting goods store. The jerseys are blue with a "V" shape neck and "Congregational" written across the front. The trunks are also blue with a double white stripe down the sides and the small letter "C" on the right side. Lumberjacks with a letter "C" on the left side of the chest will be received in a few days.

"Chuck" Cassell, Johnny Lebert and "Hank" Krum, the tallest forward in the Sunday School League, will play up in front. Krum will also play with the Chandler quintet where he will be used as pivot man. "Skipper" Rockefeller will play center. The guards will be composed of "Louis" Carpio, "Teddy" Lawrence and "Babe" Sinapough. They hope to bid for high honors in the Sunday School League this year.

A meeting of the Progressive Class will be held directly after Sunday school on Sunday.

Weight of Air
Hot air is lighter than cold air. The latter is denser and therefore weighs more. Hot air carries more water vapor than cold air. The amount of moisture necessary to produce saturation increases rapidly with the increase of temperature.

The Haverhill franchise in the New England league was recently transferred to Worcester.

A former Urshus football star, Earl Paltager, will coach the New York Giants pro eleven this year.

Earl Sande was paid $1 for riding his first horse in a race when he started in the Middle West.

Arabella and Tiff are considered the best two-year-olds of the current racing season in Great Britain.

Hugo Bedzek, Jr., son of the Penn State director of athletics has registered at the college as a freshman.

In picking an all-star team for this year, Manager McGraw chose Catcher Egan over Gordon Cochrane for that position.

Kingston Boxers Lost at Newburgh

Charlie Molera Knocked Out by Halverson, Joe Myers Dropped Fight to Irish Patsy Haley—Dewey Van Buren Drew with Farkus—No Knocking at Newburgh Armory.

Three Kingston scrappers failed to bag a win when they went hunting scalps of National Guardsmen in the Newburgh armory ring Friday night. Charlie Molera, heralded as the pride of the Colonial City, took the count in the first round of a scheduled sextet from a terrific blow sent over to his jaw by Ray Halverson of Newburgh; Joe Myers in a substitute match lost to Irish Patsy Haley of Newburgh and Dewey Van Buren, according to the officials, went on even terms with Nicky Farkus of the Hilly City for four rounds.

The main bout, which was a slugging affair, between Joe Mulligan of Chelsea, a member of the Newburgh unit of the 156th Field Artillery, and Charlie Nelson of the 102nd Medical Regiment of New York City went the scheduled eight rounds. Mulligan proved a tough soldier with a good punch, but Nelson had the edge when it came to landing the socks and they were not of the light variety either. The officials called this fracas a draw. The decision did not meet with the fans' approval for they admired the tactics of Nelson very much.

Valter Handel, who made a good impression in Kingston at shows last winter, reeled to the canvas in the first round of his scheduled six with Eddie Mayo. The burly colored scrapper from the 369th Regiment did the trick with a right to the jaw after the timer had ticked off one minute and 33 seconds of battling.

Jimmy Lane of the Naval Militia was too much for Eddie McGray of the 369th Infantry and their scrap slated for six rounds ended abruptly before the bell sounded for the end of the first stanza. Referee George Hepburn, who is as popular in Newburgh as in Kingston, credited Lane with a technical knockout after he had rendered McGray helpless from a fusillade of punches to the head.

In the curtain raiser Scotty Findley of Newburgh beat Freddie Williams of the 369th Infantry. The latter scrapper dropped a fight to Charlie Molera at the last card in Kingston.

One advantage the fighters have in Newburgh is that no smoking is permitted in the armory. The clear air apparently helps the battlers and fans are not caused to watch the tilts through burning eyes. As Newburgh fight promoters believe, the idea of "no smoking" is a great advantage not alone to the scrappers but to the spectators.

Bo McMullin's coaching abilities will be given a more severe test this year at Kansas Aggies. He first coached at Centenary and then at Geneva.

Art Neft, left-handed pitching ace of the Chicago Cubs, is an accomplished pipe organist. He also possesses a degree in electrical engineering.

Two men can put the shot 52 feet 11-16 inches. Beside John Kuck, of Nebraska, the feat was performed by Emil Hirschfeld in the meet in Germany.

Young Heavies Make Bow; Von Porat Tops Newcomers

TINY ROESBUCK New and unmarked lines will greet metropolitan boxing fans when the indoor season opens next month. Topping the promising heavies drafted from the west is Otto Von Porat who meets Paulino Ureduan, November 5. Tiny Roesbuck, heavyweight, appears on the same card. Tuffy Griffith, light-heavyweight, may meet Jack Delaney, late in November.

Chinese Superstition

Chinese customs believe implicitly in the power of water demons. No city with one bereave of water demons, but of the spirit of a man who has been drowned by a demon, for it is the power of the place of tragedy that makes vengeance on those who have been drowned in the water.

He and Glen Fisher, a member of his congregation, left home with only enough money to get them to New York. They got jobs at longshoremen at 45 cents an hour. Then the minister became a bonanza at the Salvation Army Hotel. He hasn't hit a man yet.

Viogradna, North Carolina—It's a 50-mile ride on a freight train to a bath from this station. Some 150 railroad workers and officials take the trip to Georgievsk once a week. They come home singing.

New York—Eric Palmer, Jr., whose amateur radio license was cancelled because he was staying up late nights and impairing his health, is a happy boy now. He got his health and license back by disregarding Edison's idea of little sleep. Now he is to be radio operator for an expedition to Brazil. He is 18 years old.

U. S. Starts Propagation of Cane Taken From Wilds of New Guinea

To revive the sugar cane industry in this country the government is making experiments with varieties obtained from the interior of New Guinea, supposedly resistant or immune to mosaic, a disease that now limits production. Above is the quarantined greenhouse in which the tests are being made, showing at the right thrifty young plants from the New Guinea collection. At the left, be- already sprouting and at the right he is opening one of the air-tight cans in which the cane joints were shipped from the island.

Report of Literacy Test for Voters

The following report of Superintendent of Schools M. J. Michael in regard to the recent literacy tests for new voters is of interest:

At the general election in 1921 an amendment to Article 11, section 1, of the State Constitution was passed, which provides:

"After January 1, 1922, no person shall become entitled to vote by attaining majority, by naturalization or otherwise, unless such person is also able, except for physical disability, to read and write English, and suitable laws shall be passed by the Legislature to enforce this provision."

This amendment and the laws relating thereto, are known as the laws governing literacy tests for new voters.

The legislature placed the responsibility of executing this law and formulating rules relating thereto upon the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, and the Regents, in turn, have placed the responsibility directly upon city, village and district superintendents of schools whose duty it is to issue certificates of literacy in accordance with the law and the rules of the Regents.

Certificates of literacy shall be issued to new voters as follows:

First: To applicants whose credentials show that they have successfully completed the sixth grade.

Second: To applicants whose credentials show that they have completed a course in reading and writing equivalent to that of the sixth grade.

Third: To all applicants who have passed an examination or test authorized by the commissioner. This test shall be known as the New York State Regents literacy test.

New voters who possess a diploma showing graduation from an eighth grade of a public school or a parochial or private school of equal rank, or a higher diploma need not take the literacy test.

Since 1922 the literacy test has been given at the high school during the weeks set apart for registration. The attached specimen of literacy test as prepared by the Board of Regents, shows how simple the test is. The candidate is allowed twenty minutes in which to answer the questions.

I submit the following report on literacy tests given at the high school on October 11, 12, 13, 19 and 20, and at No. 5 School October 15, 16, 17, 18, 19:

1. Certificates of literacy issued to:

a. Applicants presenting day school credentials: 17 men; 17 women; total 34.

b. Applicants who passed the New York State Regents literacy test: 140 men; 135 women; total 275.

2. No. of persons who failed to pass the New York State Regents literacy test: 4 men; 1 woman; total 5.

3. No. of persons applying for certificates of literacy: 161 men; 163 women; total 324.

4. No. of different examiners: 2.

Due to the unusually large number of candidates, the cost for extra janitors' services and examiners for the present year is approximately $56. In previous years the cost has been about $35.

I have visited all the schools during the month of October and find the work progressing in the usual satisfactory manner. The buildings are clean and neat, and well cared for by our janitors.

The registration and attendance has not materially changed since my September report.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. MICHAEL,
Superintendent of Schools,
Kingston, N. Y., October 26, 1928.

State Regents Literacy Test.
The literacy test referred to in the above report is as follows:

Read this and then write the answers. Read it as many times as you need to.

The capital of a country is the city in which its laws are made. The capital of the United States is named Washington. It is on the beautiful Potomac river in the eastern part of the United States. The people of the United States feel proud of their capital city. The president of our country lives there. The house where he lives is called the White House. In Washington the Congress of the United States makes the laws for the country. Everybody should obey the laws that Congress makes.

(The answers to the following questions are to be taken from the above paragraph.)

1. Where are the laws of a country made?

2. What is the name of the capital of the United States?

3. On what river is the capital of the United States?

4. In what part of the United States is the capital?

5. How do the people of this country feel about their capital city?

6. What do we call the house where the president lives?

7. Who makes the laws for the country?

8. Who should obey the laws that Congress makes?

Keep that schoolgirl complexion, but not your coat lapel.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—The stock market today staged rather a remarkable comeback, considering the violence of yesterday's belated break. Sober consideration of the factors governing current speculation apparently led to the conviction that the precipitate selling had been overdone.
There was such a rush to buy that prices in today's brief session were speedily lifted 2 to 12 points. The ticker fell nearly 15 minutes behind the market and total sales probably exceeded 1,500,000 shares.
Some of the advances were startling. Radio climbed 12 points to 237 1/2, or within striking distance of the peak, while Western Union, which has been linked with radio in current gossip suggesting closer affiliations, rose 11 points to 195, the best price in all time.
It was a broad market generally, with the higher-priced shares, as a rule, moving to levels substantially above the previous close. There were gains of 8 1/2 points in Montgomery Ward, 7 1/2 in Allied Chemical, 6 1/2 in Atlantic Refining (old) and 6 in R. H. Macy.
Advances of 5 to 6 1/2 points were made by Greene Cananea, Commercial Solvents, Union Carbide, American International and Murray Corporation. Such representative issues as General Motors, U. S. Steel, American Smelting, Curtiss, Gold Dust, Timken Roller Bearing and Mathieson Alkali rose 3 to 5 points.
Railroad shares were active and kept up well with the procession. St. Louis Southwestern rising 5 1/2 points to a new high price at 122 1/2. Some new high prices for the year, or longer, also were established by moderate and low-priced industrials, notably Jordan and Best & Company. The closing was strong.

Deny Selling Rogers Hornsby

Officials of Boston Braves Deny Selling Second Baseman to Chicago Cubs As Reported in the New York Sun.
New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—The New York Sun in a copyrighted story today says Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Boston Braves, has been bought by the Chicago Cubs for $200,000 plus the players Webb, Heathcote and Maguire. The story says Hornsby received a bonus of $25,000 for signing a contract to play next base for the Cubs for the next three seasons at a salary of $40,000 a year.
The story by the Sun's sports editor, Joe Vito, adds that the contract was signed and sealed after a conference with a representative of William Wrigley, Jr., the Cubs' owner, here a week ago.
The deal by which Wrigley obtained the right to sign Hornsby is hailed as the biggest in the history of baseball. The payment of $200,000 in real money for Hornsby breaks all records, the story points out. The releases of Webb, Heathcote and Maguire are valued collectively at about $20,000.
Braves Officials Deny Sale.
Boston, Oct. 27 (AP)—Denial that Rogers Hornsby had been sold to the Chicago Cubs was made by officials of the Boston Braves today when informed of a report that the Boston manager had been sent to the Cubs for $200,000 and three players.
"We have made no deal concerning Hornsby yet," said Ed Cunningham, secretary of the Braves, "and we will not take any action until after Election Day. When the deal is made it will be announced in Boston."
Emil Fuchs, president of the club, also denied that the deal had been made.

Saloon Made Famous by Jack London Burned

Oakland, Calif.—The "Last Chance" saloon, cradle of the literary endeavors of Jack London and favorite hangout of Robert Louis Stevenson during his residence on the west coast has been destroyed by fire.

Memories of the two authors, including the chair in which Stevenson sat to plan his South Sea trip, first editions of Jack London's books with inscriptions from the author to Johnny Baldwin, owner of the saloon, went up in the flames.

The "Last Chance" was built forty-three years ago from the timbers of an old clipper ship that grounded in the Oakland estuary.

Roasting System Old

We find no exact records of the first roast. It is said that when the Germans conquered parts of Gaul, the land was parcelled out to chiefs, lieutenants and private soldiers. In return the holders of the lands promised military service when needed. Some of the land was given to favorites who were allowed to pay in money instead of service, and the system was established. Rent was certainly known in the days that Rome flourished, there being Latin names for rent under long leasehold tenure; rent of a farm; ground rent; rent of state lands, and the annual rent payable for the right to the perpetual enjoyment of anything built on the surface of the land—Washington Star.

Smith's Subject Tonight a Secret

Making Speech in Philadelphia as Advice of Campaign Managers in Hope of Swinging State for Democracy.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Satisfied in his own mind that his fight for the presidency has made forward strides as a consequence of his New England tour, Governor Smith today carries his campaign into Pennsylvania, an enemy stronghold which has not felt the sting of Democratic defeat in more than 70 years.

For an hour late today, the Democratic presidential nominee will head an automobile procession through the principal streets of Philadelphia and tonight, in the Quaker City arena, he will deliver the 12th formal address of a campaign which has taken him more than 19,000 miles by rail and automobile.

Prior to his entry into Philadelphia, the Governor's schedule called for a half hour's parade in the city of Camden, N. J., where his special train is due to arrive at 3:50 p. m. after leaving the Pennsylvania station here at 1:30.

Advance information received at the nominee's headquarters indicated another big eastern reception for him in the two cities. The parade in Philadelphia will terminate at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, where the Governor and his party will make their headquarters overnight.

Subject of Speech a Secret.
The speech, the subject of which remained a secret today, will start at 8 p. m., eastern time, and will be broadcast over the usual nation-wide hookup.

Governor Smith worked all day yesterday on the address, but did not complete a rough draft until late last night.

Whether the nominee will return to New York after attending church in Philadelphia tomorrow morning or visit the home of John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, near Centerville, Md., remained undecided today. If he goes to Mr. Raskob's home he will remain there until Monday morning and then start direct for Baltimore, where he will open the final week of the campaign before election with another formal address.

In going to Pennsylvania for a speech, Governor Smith is following the advice of his campaign managers. They figure he stands a fighting chance to carry the Keystone state which, since the election of James Buchanan in 1855, has returned comfortable Republican majorities in every quadrennial election except in the party schism of 1912, when Roosevelt won out.

Asked at a press conference whether he had any recent reports from Pennsylvania which would warrant a belief that he might achieve victory there, Smith said he did not know "anything about it," that Pennsylvania was a "pretty big state" and he failed to see "how anyone can form an opinion about these things."

The governor did have some ideas about southern New England, however, and he was frank in stating them. Questioned as to his reaction to the Boston demonstration and the manner in which the audience received his speech there, he said:

"I certainly think after Monday night there has been a decided change. I think the Republican candidate hurt his cause with his Madison Square Garden speech."

As for the cheers he received in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, the nominee said it could not be "that these people cheer the way they do and then vote the other way."

"It looks like there is something in the air," he added.

Hunt Deer in Adirondacks.
Eddie Goldstein, Charles Young, Vernon Smith, George Pardee and Bernie McBride, all popular employees of the Apollo Magneto Corporation, have made plans for an extensive hunting trip through the Adirondack Mountains. They are all equipped with high powered rifles and have high hopes of returning with a large deer or more. They will leave Kingston this evening, traveling in McBride's new Ford sedan. They expect to be gone about ten days, returning in time for election.

Attend L. F. Bennett's Funeral.
Congressman H. J. Pratt, with Philip Elting and Chris K. Loughran, left this morning for Liberty to attend the funeral today of Lewis Frank Bennett, who died Tuesday at the home of his daughter in Liberty. Mr. Bennett and Congressman Pratt served together as members of the Ulster county board of supervisors in 1895 and 1896, the former from the town of Denning, of which he was a native, and the latter from the town of Lloyd.

NEW YORK TAXES ALMOST TRIPLED UNDER SMITH

Tammany Administration Shows Average Increase of 40 Per Cent During Each Term.

HIS REGIME IS COSTLY

Engineers' Committee Presents Survey Showing Results of Extravagant Government

NEW YORK.—Taxes in New York State have increased an average of 40 per cent during each of the four terms of Alfred E. Smith as Governor, according to figures prepared by the Engineers' National Committee.

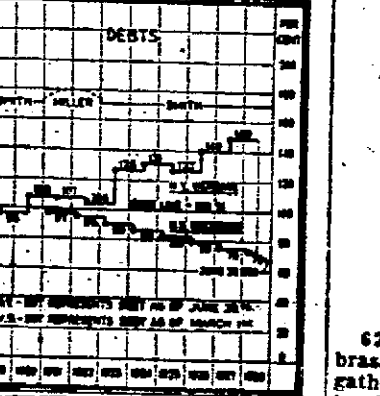

Since Smith was first elected Governor of New York State (in 1919) taxes have almost tripled. During the very first year of his first administration the state's taxes jumped 48 per cent, and during his entire first term the taxes were increased 81 per cent, or to a point almost double that at the opening of his term, two years previous.

This drastic upward trend was halted during the Miller (Republican) term, during the first year of which taxes were actually reduced by 17 per cent, or to a point 69 per cent of the pre-Smith term. The reason why it was possible for Miller to reduce the taxes to near the pre-Smith level was on account of fast expansion expenditures which had been authorized during the Smith administration and which it was imperative to carry out. The taxes during the second year of Miller's term were held practically to the same level as those of the first year.

Immediately upon the second election of Governor Smith the taxes began to climb swiftly, being increased 25 per cent during his second term, 23 per cent during his third term, and 12 per cent during the first year of his fourth term. The average rate of increase during each of his four terms has been 40 per cent.

Since the elimination of actual current war expenditures during the first part of the Harding term, the federal taxes have been reduced by 5.5 per cent, and in no instance have the federal taxes exceeded those of 1921, the first really normal governmental year.

The state expenditures under Smith have also been almost tripled, the only reduction since 1919 being recorded during the Miller term. During the first Smith term the expenditures increased by 73 per cent, and the average increase in expenditures for the four Smith terms has been 35 per cent. Since the first part of the Harding term, when actual war expenditures were eliminated, the federal expenditures have been fairly stationary, but with a downward tendency, the lowest point being reached in 1925.

Notwithstanding this downward tendency in the federal taxes, the national debt of over 25 billion dollars in 1919 has been gradually reduced to around 17 billion dollars, a reduction of about 8 billion dollars or 32 per cent during the last eight years. During the same period the debt of the State of New York under the leadership of Governor Smith has been increased by 60 per cent.

Efficiency Varies

The exact amount of efficiency derived from a gallon of gasoline in an automobile varies widely, depending on many conditions. It may be anywhere from 15 per cent to 25 per cent efficient.
